Scripts
1. INTRODUCTION

In this unit we will look back at the present tenses; the present simple and the present continuous. We will also take a look at how and when to use the gerund and when to use the infinitive after verbs as well as looking at vocabulary for sports and health.

1. Use / understand present simple
2. Use / understand present continuous
3. Know when to use infinitives and gerunds
4. Use and understand sports vocabulary
5. Use and understand vocabulary connected with health

When you have finished this unit you will be able to:

1. Write about a sport you like or/and practise.
2. Interview a friend about her/his lifestyle. How healthy is it?

2. HELP! I HAVE A PROBLEM!

Read the text and answer the questions:
Dear Sue,

I am writing to you because I have a problem. I think I am a normal 31 year-old man but no matter what I do, I am not happy with the way I look.

Recently, I went back to university and I am studying physiotherapy but I am having problems because I am not as sporty as the other people on the course.

I am of average height and I weigh about 80 kilos, I have dark brown hair and green eyes and I think that I am quite good looking. The problem is that I want to have a great body and I don’t.

I go to a local gym and I am reading looks of books and I am following a training programme that I found on the Internet. I eat a lot of protein and food like pasta and rice and I am doing a lot of exercise but my body is not changing as quickly as I want it to, in fact I think that I am getting fatter and that I am starting to look worse!

Right now, I am living with some friends, but I want to move house so that I am closer to my gym. My girlfriend says that this is not normal and she says that I am going crazy! I don’t think that she is right; I only want to look good and to feel comfortable!

I don’t know what to do, help me please!

Yours,

Andrew McManus

2. What does Andrew look like?
3. What does he do to keep fit*?
4. Why does he want to move house?
5. What does his girlfriend think?

*keep fit = mantenerse en forma

Match these words with their definitions

- Standard, regular
- Athletic, fit
- Fast, rapidly
- Really, actually
- Attractive, handsome

- Sporty
- Average
- Good-looking
- Quickly
- In fact

Write in the gaps with the following expressions to complete right sentences a great body / he doesn’t like / dark brown / green / he is going crazy

Andrew’s hair is [...]. His eyes are [...]. He wants to have [...], so he goes to the gym. But, he’s not happy because [...] the way he looks. His girlfriend’s opinion is that [...].
2.1. Grammar

There are two present tenses in English:

The present simple: I work

The present continuous: I am working

PRESENT SIMPLE _ FORM & USE

FORM: to think, present simple

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Affirmative Form</th>
<th>Negative Form</th>
<th>Interrogative Form</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I / You / We / They think</td>
<td>I / You / We / They do not (don’t) think</td>
<td>Do I / you / we / they think?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>He / She / It thinks</td>
<td>He / She / It does not (doesn’t) think</td>
<td>Does he / she / it think?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Time Expressions

Always, usually, often, generally, sometimes, rarely, seldom, never, once a week/a month/a year, every day, in the morning/afternoon/evening, at night.

Remember: In the third person singular the verb always ends in -s: he wants, she needs, he gives, she thinks.

But with some verbs it ends in -es:

Spelling Rules → Third person singular with -es

| Add -es to verbs ending in: -o, -ss, -x, -sh, -ch: he goes, she passes, he fixes, it pushes, she catches. | Verbs ending in consonant + -y: the third person changes the -y to -ies: fly → flies cry → cries | Verbs ending in vowel + -y: the third person only adds -s: play → plays pray → prays |

EXAMPLES

Third person singular with s or -es

a. He goes to school every morning.
b. She understands English.
c. It mixes the sand and the water.
d. He tries very hard.
e. She enjoys playing the piano.

The present simple is used to express:

- habits,
- repeated actions or unchanging situations,
- general truths.
Examples:

1. For habits
   He drinks tea at breakfast.
   She only eats fish.

2. For repeated actions or events
   We catch the bus every morning
   It rains every afternoon in the hot season.

3. For general truths
   Water freezes at zero degrees.
   The Earth revolves around the Sun.

PRESENT CONTINUOUS → FORM & USE

The present continuous of any verb is composed of two parts the present tense of the verb to be + the -ing form of the main verb.

FORM: to talk

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Affirmative</th>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>is</td>
<td>she / he / it</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>are</td>
<td>we / you / they</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Time Expressions

at the moment, now, tonight, this weekend, this month, at present.

Spelling Rules to add → ing

- A single -e at the end of the verb is dropped before -ing:
  - come → coming
- But -ie at the end becomes -y:
  - Lie → lying
- And -ee is not changed:
  - See → seeing

  The final consonant after a short, stressed vowel is doubled:
  - sit → sitting
  - swim → swimming
The present continuous is used:

- to describe an action that is going on at this moment e.g.
  You are using the Internet. You are studying English grammar.

- to describe an action that is going on during this period of time or a trend, e.g.
  Are you still working for the same company?

to describe an action or event in the future, which has already been planned or prepared e.g.
We’re going on holiday tomorrow.

Activities

Write in the gaps with the following words to complete right sentences

- have / sears / cooks / spears / fixes / take / washes / buy

  1. I [...] breakfast at 6:00 every morning.
  2. My father always [...] a suit to work.
  3. He [...] his teeth three times a day.
  4. The children [...] the bus to school everyday.
  5. They usually [...] their clothes at the weekend.
  6. She often [...] pasta for dinner.
  7. My French teacher [...] three languages.
  8. A mechanic [...] cars.

Make negatives sentences using the correct verbs from the list

- doesn’t love / don’t go / dont drink / don’t know / doesn’t smoke / don’t have

  Example. She is Chinese. She doesn’t speak French.

  1. John and Betty are strangers. They [...] each other.
  2. The children [...] to school on the weekend.
  3. Mrs.Harrison wants a divorce. She [...] her husband anymore.
  5. Susan is very healthy. She [...] cigarettes.
  6. Poor people [...] a lot of money.

Write the correct form of the present simple.

1. (play) He [...] football every day.
2. (study) She [...] English at school.
3. (dance) She [...] very well.
4. (drive) He [...] a really fast car.
5. (have) Natalia [...] lots of friends.

Write the correct form of the present continuous.

Use these verbs: STUDY, COOK, FIX, SHINE, LISTEN, RAIN

1. The sun [...]. It is a beautiful day.
2. He [...] dinner. He is busy now.
3. Robert [...] the car. He is very well.
4. My sister is in her bedroom. She [...] for the exam.
5. The children are in the classroom. They [...] to their teacher.
6. Take your umbrella. It [...] .
PRESENT SIMPLE VS PRESENT CONTINUOUS

Now study this explanation and compare the examples:

Present Continuous: I am listening

Use the present continuous to talk about something which is happening at or around the time of speaking:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>past</th>
<th>now</th>
<th>future</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I am doing</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

“Listen to those people. What language are they speaking?”

“Where is Anna?” “She's playing tennis”

Use the present continuous for a temporary situation:

“She’s living with a friend until she can find a flat”

“The lift isn’t working. It broke down this morning.”

Present Simple: I listen

Use the present simple to talk about things in general or things which happen repeatedly:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>past</th>
<th>now</th>
<th>future</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>← I do →</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

“Excuse me, do you speak English?”

“Peter plays tennis on Sundays.”

Use the present simple for a permanent situation:

“My sister lives in London. She has been there for many years.”

“The lift doesn’t work. It hasn’t worked for weeks.”

Activities

True or false

Decide if the verbs in these sentences are right or wrong. Write again those which are wrong.

Example: I am going to the cinema on Saturdays. WRONG

RIGHT: I go to the cinema on Saturdays.

- Kim is a student from South Korea. But, at the moment she lives in London
- After breakfast, Sally usually is cycling to school
- Quiet please! I am writing a test.
- Is he watching the news regularly?
- Everybody knows that apples are good for their health.
- Helen wears a t-shirt and shorts today.
- Paul is a businessman. He is travelling a lot in his job.
- Mr Robins always comes from work very late.

Now write correctly the wrong sentences.
Complete the following sentences using the correct present tense.

- She [...] usually at 6:00, but today she [...] at 5:30 because she has an early appointment at work.
- I always [...] to work, but I [...] the bus today because it is raining very hard.
- We usually [...] the local newspaper, but today we [...] a national newspaper.
- The children usually [...] a shower in the evening, but tonight they [...] a bath.
- Paul often [...] cereal for breakfast, but today he [...] toast.

Write in the gaps with the correct form of the verb

1. (play) Where is your brother? My brother [...] tennis with James.
2. (cook) My neighbour is a cook; he [...] in a Mexican restaurant.
3. (have) Excuse me, but I [...] open the door; I [...] a shower.
4. (ring) The phone [...] John, can you answer it, please?
5. (shout) Andrew, Why [...] at me?
6. (smoke) My wife occasionally [...] mainly in parties.
7. (play) My sister [...] the piano like a professional.
8. (wash) Where is your husband? He [...] the car.
10. (perform) She is a dancer; she [...] in the National Ballet.

2.2. Learning new words

Listen and repeat these words connected with health, fitness and appearance:

<table>

3.1. GRAMMAR

Gerunds and infinitives

Some verbs in English can only be followed by a gerund. Some verbs can only be followed by an infinitive. Some verbs can be followed by both the infinitive and -ing with no great change in meaning, there are some verbs where the meaning does change.

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>I need to stop to smoke</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>I need to stop smoking</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>I will try to use your camera</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>I will try using your camera</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Gerunds can be used:

- As the subject of a sentence (smoking is bad for you, drinking too much is unhealthy)
- As the object of the sentence (after verbs like enjoy, hate, spend, stop etc)
- After preposition and phrasal verbs and as the complement of a verb (His hobby is collecting stamps; he will keep on trying until he succeeds; she is great at swimming)

Infinitives are used:

- As the subject of the sentence in formal or older style English (To err is human)
- As the object of the sentence (after verbs like agree, decide, forget, try etc)
- To express purpose; why someone does something (I am studying to pass my exam)
- After adjectives which express wishes or personal feeling about the importance of something or make a value judgment (This is easy to understand)

The infinitive without to is used:

- After most modal verbs (You mustn’t smoke, He could run really quickly)
- After make and let (You made him walk away, let me see that)
Remember:
A gerund is the name for an “-ing” form which acts like a noun.
The infinitive is another word for the base form of the verb, with or without “to”.

Gerunds and infinitives
There are some verbs which can only to followed by the -ing form:

I enjoy playing football (NOT to play)
He finished singing (NOT He finished to sing)

Verbs normally followed by -ing

<table>
<thead>

<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>Enjoy</td>
<td>11</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>

<td>12</td>
<td>Understand</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

After many verbs we use the infinitive:

Decide - She decided to study English
Pretend - They pretended to like the food
Start - It started to rain

Verbs normally followed by the infinitive

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>Remember</td>
<td>15</td>
<td>Want</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8</td>
<td>Try</td>
<td>16</td>
<td>Would like</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Some of the verbs that are followed by the infinitive can be followed by an object + infinitive:

Help - She helped him to do his homework
Remind - He reminded her to lock the door

Some verbs can be followed by either the infinitive or the -ing form with no change in meaning:

Love - I love to swim /swimming
Like - I like to shop / shopping

But, although some verbs can be followed by both the infinitive and -ing with no great change in meaning, there are some verbs where the meaning does change, these include:

Stop - I stopped smoking (I quit); I stopped to smoke (I stopped what I was doing so that I could smoke)
Remember - I remembered writing the e-mail (a memory); I remembered to write the e-mail (I didn’t forget)
Activities

Look at these phrases. Notice how the gerund or infinitive is used after each verb.

1. I want you to take a deep breath
2. We all need to try something different
3. They expected me to refuse
4. Imagine having the chance to live the life of a professional footballer
5. I try to avoid doing sport
6. I dislike hearing about football

Match the two halves of the phrases

3.4. Writing

It’s your turn!

Activities

1. Imagine you are watching an exciting football match. Write 5 sentences describing what is happening. Try and use as much vocabulary from the vocabulary section as you can!

2. Imagine you are doing a survey about people’s habits. Find out information using the following verbs. Start each sentence with “Tell me something…”

   You might use verbs like detest, expect, dislike, hate, would like, need, hope, think…
3.5. Pronunciation

Look at these phrases containing verbs that you last saw when we studied gerunds and infinitives. Read the sentences then listen to the audio. Repeat the pronunciation out loud.

1. I detest shopping
2. I dislike visiting relatives
3. I enjoy going to the beach
4. I promise to write to you soon
5. I want to get a good job
6. I would like to visit you next week

Writing

Imagine that an English friend of yours is staying with you. His mother calls you on your mobile and wants to speak to him. Unfortunately, your friend doesn’t want to speak to his mother. Think of 5 different activities that your friend “is doing” so he doesn’t have to speak to his mum.

Writing

In reality your friend WASN’T doing those things in the last exercise. Now, write TRUE sentences using the present continuous negative.

5. SUMMARY

In this unit we looked back at the present tenses; the present simple and the present continuous. We also took a look at how and when to use the gerund and when to use the infinitive after verbs as well as looking at vocabulary for sports and health.

We have also looked at vocabulary for world problems and the cinema.

You should now be able to do the two tasks for this unit:

1. Write about a sport you like or/and practise.
2. Interview a friend about her/his lifestyle. How healthy is it?

A case of the flu

Fiona: Hello Graham. You look terrible! Are you ok?

Graham: Well, the truth is I’m not feeling very well.

Fiona: Oh dear. What’s the matter?

Graham: Well, I feel a bit unwell: my head hurts and I have a temperature and my joints are all aching as well. I think I have that virus that they are talking about on the news.

Fiona: Oh no, that doesn’t sound very good! Have you seen a doctor?

Graham: Yes, but she just says that I need to go to bed and rest. But it is difficult to rest and I am sweating so much that although I am drinking constantly I am completely dehydrated.

Fiona: That sounds awful! Are you taking any medicine? Did the doctor give you a prescription for anything?

Graham: No, but I am sure that I will be ok if I rest a little bit.

Fiona: Maybe, but I really think you should go home. There is a nasty flu bug going around and it is quite dangerous! I know a lot of people who seem to have the same virus.

Graham: I think you are right. In fact I am going home right now to go to bed.

Fiona: That’s a good idea. In fact, I am coming with you to make sure that you are ok. I’m not letting you drive like that!

Graham: Thank you. I don’t think it would be a good idea for me to drive. My head feels like it is exploding!

Fiona: Poor you! Come on then, let’s go! I am taking you home right now?

Fat Bob’s film blog

I have a bit of a surprise for you in this week’s blog. I want you to take a deep breath and make sure you are sitting down before you read on.

Ready?

I’m not going to watch a single film for seven whole days. Why? Let me explain?

Imagine having the chance to live the life of a professional footballer for a complete week?

Being paid to exercise, meeting famous people and driving fast cars; sounds like a dream offer, right? I’m sure you all know plenty of people who would agree to do anything in exchange for that opportunity. In fact I have several close friends who I am convinced would actually be capable of armed violence if they thought that it would help their chances (and not just get them put in jail).

However, I’m a film journalist. I try to avoid doing sport at all costs, I dislike even hearing about football and detest getting up from the comfort of my own sofa. The idea of spending a week surrounded by professional sportsmen and pretending to be coordinated is not very high on my list of priorities.
It’s not that I don’t understand that people can enjoy doing sport, it’s just that I personally don’t like doing anything more strenuous than walking down to my local shop to buy a newspaper and maybe a packet of cigarettes, which I will stop to smoke before making my way back to the comfort of my television. (I will probably stop smoking when they make it less enjoyable, until then it will definitely form part of my daily life). My idea of exercise is re-organising my DVD collection and putting it in alphabetical order.

So, given my obvious preference for a what I call a “comfortable” lifestyle you can imagine my surprise at receiving a phone call offering me the chance to train with a professional football team for a week and then write about the experience. I think the people who offered me the chance expected me to refuse but to their (and my) surprise I agreed to do it.

So there we are, film critic turned wannabe sport star. At least it will make a change for you more regular readers of my blog!

After all, there’s nothing more exciting than a challenge, is there? Sometimes we all need to try something different if only to remind ourselves the reason why we never tried it in the first place.

I just hope to survive the experience?

The game

Frank: Hey Beth! How are you doing? Did you see the game on Sunday?

Beth: Yes, I did! Wasn’t it great? I honestly didn’t expect it to be so exciting! I can’t remember watching a game as incredible as that before!

Frank: Yes, it was pretty good, wasn’t it? I don’t normally enjoy reading the newspapers on Monday morning but today I bought three!

Beth: I know! It seems like we always lose but to beat the league leaders at their own stadium was more than I could ever have hoped for!

Frank: The way the team just ran and ran. The passing was so smooth and the whole team tackled tirelessly?

Beth: Did you see the first shot on goal? It usually seems like our strikers forget to put their boots on before they play but the way our centre forward hit the ball was unbelievable. It had so much power! The way he hit the volley was incredible? He only missed by a centimetre or two and that was in the first 30 seconds of the game? I was in shock!

Frank: That’s the great thing about supporting our team: because we always expect to lose, it’s amazing when they actually win!

Beth: I completely agree; but although they always seem to lose, I refuse to give up. I guess I should have learnt to expect the worst, for example I normally avoid watching our team take penalties, but I on Sunday I couldn’t even imagine the ball not going in?

Frank: It’s such a great feeling! I wish it could last forever!

Beth: (laughs) Yes, me too! Although I have to admit thinking that it won’t last much longer than a week!

1. INTRODUCTION

In this unit you will learn how to use the PAST CONTINUOUS and the PAST SIMPLE. We will also look at how to use USED TO, LINKERS and DISCOURSE MARKERS as well as many other useful and interesting things.

1. Use / understand the past continuous
2. Use / understand the past simple
3. Use / understand “used to”
4. Use / understand linkers and discourse markers
5. Talk about family

When you have finished this unit you will be able to:

1. Write about your childhood: what you used to be like and what things you used to do.
2. Write an appropriate ending to this story (around 150 words):

“It was a cold night in November and it was raining. It was six o’clock and people were going home from work. There was a lot of traffic. Diana was in a hurry, but she wasn’t going home. She was driving to her friend Daniel’s house to have dinner...”
2. FAMILY MATTERS

A Rocking Family

You are going to read a text about an unusual family. What do you think life would be like growing up in a family whose father is the lead singer in a heavy metal band? Take a few minutes to think about what it could be like. Then, read the text and answer the questions.

The Osbournes

The Osbourne family is not like any family one may encounter. Ozzy Osbourne and his wife Sharon got married in 1982 and soon after she gave birth to Aimée in 1983, Kelly in 1984 and Jack in 1985. So what is so unusual about this family?

First the dad: Ozzy, born in 1948. He released his first record with the band Black Sabbath in the early seventies. The self-titled record went platinum that same year in the U.K. and U.S. This was the start of an amazing career as a heavy metal singer that has not stopped for the last 40 years. Nicknamed “The Prince of Darkness” he shocked the world by eating a bat on stage during one of his shows. In 1996, Ozzy and his wife/manager Sharon launched OZZfest in 1996, the first national music festival of its kind dedicated to hard rock music and breaking new artists. Over one million fans attended the annual OZZfest music festival which Ozzy headlined. The festival made so much money that Ozzy donated a portion of the proceeds to diverse charities. The festival is still going strong and is usually sold out.

Then we have Sharon, Ozzy’s wife, who after having met her future husband, at the tender age of 17, became his manager when the artist decided to leave the band and start his solo career. Sharon also works on television and she is one of the judges on the X-factor, a British talent show.

What really makes this family unconventional is that in 2002 a TV reality show filmed their daily lives and turned them into world-wide celebrities. The show featured Ozzy and Sharon of course but also two of their children: Jack and Kelly. Aimée, the eldest of the three, refused to take part in the programme and criticized publicly her parents for their antics in the show.

The series followed the family as they dealt with major events such as Sharon’s battle with cancer, and the aftermath of an accident that nearly killed Ozzy.

Now, all the members of the Osbourne clan are major celebrities and either work in television or music.

2.1. Grammar

Past Simple

The past simple is used to describe finished actions in the past. We know the context or when the action took place. The past simple is usually formed by adding -ed to the main verb. Look at the examples in the table, notice that the third person form is the same as the other forms.

Past Continuous

The past continuous is used to describe an unfinished action in the past at a specific time. The past continuous is formed with was/ were plus adding -ing to the main verb.

At 10 o'clock last night, I was watching TV.

Yesterday morning I was reading a book.

We can also use the Past Continuous to indicate that a longer action in the past was interrupted. The interruption is usually a shorter action in the Past Simple.

I was doing my homework when the phone rang.

I was washing my hair when my mother came into the bathroom.

Spelling rules for the present participle or “-ing”

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Add -ing</th>
<th>For most verbs, add “-ing”.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>be / being</td>
<td>My brother was being naughty</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>play / playing</td>
<td>My friend was playing football</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>work / working</td>
<td>I was working at home today</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>listen / listening</td>
<td>They were listening to music</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Drop -e

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Verb</th>
<th>Example</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>live / living</td>
<td>Ann was living in London last year</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>come / coming</td>
<td>I was coming to Zaragoza yesterday</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If e is not silent, the final e is not dropped.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Verb</th>
<th>Example</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>be / being</td>
<td>My brother was being naughty</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>see / seeing</td>
<td>My sister was seeing the film yesterday</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

-ie => -ying

If the verb ends in ie, change ie to y and add -ing.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Verb</th>
<th>Example</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>die / dying</td>
<td>My plants were dying because they needed water</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>lie / lying</td>
<td>My dog was lying on my bed</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Double final letter

For 1 syllable words that end with a consonant/vowel/consonant, double the final letter before adding -ing. (NB. this does not apply to verbs ending in w, x or y.)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Verb</th>
<th>Example</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>stop / stopping</td>
<td>The police were stopping cars from entering the street</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>run / running</td>
<td>The children were running in a race</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

This does not apply to verbs ending in w, x or y.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Verb</th>
<th>Example</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>snow / snowing</td>
<td>It was snowing outside</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>fix / fixing</td>
<td>I was fixing a problem at work</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>say / saying</td>
<td>Were you listening to what I was saying?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

For 2 syllable words where the stress is on the 2nd syllable and which end with a consonant/vowel/consonant, double the final letter before adding -ing

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Verb</th>
<th>Example</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>begin / beginning</td>
<td>I left the cinema as film was beginning</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>allow / allowing</td>
<td>Why were they allowing him to talk all the time?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

This does not apply to verbs ending in w, x or y:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Verb</th>
<th>Example</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>allow / allowing</td>
<td>Why were they allowing him to talk all the time?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Exceptions

When the verb ends in ‘l’, double the ‘l’ even if the stress is on the first syllable.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Verb</th>
<th>Example</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>model / modelling</td>
<td>She was modelling sportswear</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>travel / travelling</td>
<td>They were travelling to Germany. (NB This is not true in US English)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Activities

Complete these activities with the past simple and the past continuous remember that the past simple generally expresses a finished state and the past continuous generally expresses an unfinished state in the past or to emphasise how long something took.
Write in the gap the past tense from the verbs you have in brackets.

1. (try) She [...] to do her homework.
2. (call) They [...] you
3. (travel) I [...] to Thailand.
4. (keep) She [...] quiet during the entire movie.
5. (say) You [...] it was ok.
6. (be) She [...] there!

Write in the gaps with the following words to make correct sentences.

- She [...] me not to worry about it.
- They [...] to the cinema without me.
- I [...] TV when the electricity went out.
- [...] she crying when you got home?
- I [...] time to do it this morning.
- We [...] the cathedral, it was closed.
- My mother [...] cooking when I arrived.
- What was he [...] all morning?

Choose the right option

Jeremy: Hello Esther! I [...] (A) to see you here! Jane [...] (B) me you were sick.
Esther: Hi Jeremy. I’m ok. I [...] (C) very busy yesterday so I [...] (D) to work but I am not sick!
Jeremy: I am happy to hear that you are ok. But why didn’t you call to say where you were? I [...] (E) for you for two hours before Jane [...] (F) me you [...] (G)! I had some very important news to tell you in our meeting!
Esther: Oh dear! I’m so sorry! I completely [...] (H) that we were having a meeting!

A. were expecting / didn’t expect / am expecting
B. told / tells / was telling
C. was / were / am
D. didn’t come / weren’t coming / wasn’t coming
E. was waiting / waited / am waiting
F. tells / was telling / told
G. wasn’t coming in / didn’t coming in / weren’t coming in
H. was forgetting / forgot / were forgetting

Writing

Write the correct negative form of these sentences.

Example: I went to the shop / I didn’t go to the shop.

1. I told her not to go.
2. She was having a bath when I walked in.
3. They left for Thailand yesterday.
4. He was crying for hours!
5. We stayed home.
Writing
Now write the correct interrogative form of those sentences using the past simple or the past continuous.
Example: I went to the shop - Did I go to the shop?

Write in the gaps
Fill the gaps with the right verb form.
Example: (walk) He (...) when he found a 20 pound note on the ground.

He was walking when he found a 20 pound note on the ground.
1. (play) He fell down when he [...] in the playground.
2. (meet) She [...] her boyfriend when she was going to work.
3. (cook) When he [...], the bell rang.
4. (drive) Her mobile rang when she [...].
5. (see) Natalia [...] her cousin when she was waiting for the bus.
6. (hear) I [...] his voice although I couldn’t see him.

Write in the gaps
Use the correct question word (who, what, where, when, why, how much) and the simple past tense to make questions. The underlined words are the answers to the questions.
Example: Where did you spend your holidays last year? / I spent my holidays in London last year.

1. ...?
• I earned 1.200 euros last month.
2. ...?
• I was ill two weeks ago.
3. ...?
• She didn’t come to work yesterday because it was her free day.
4. ...?
• I was at home last weekend.
5. ...?
• My sister gave me the quilt.
6. ...?
• I wanted a mobile for my birthday last year.

2.2. Learning new words
At this stage in the course you have read quite lot of texts in English. You may have noticed the use of certain words that join different ideas and phrases together. These words are called “linkers” because they “link” or “join” ideas and clauses. Discourse markers are similar and help the reader or listener identify the context of what is being said.

Look at the linkers and discourse markers below. Listen and repeat the pronunciation. After you have listened to them a couple of times try and learn them by heart. It helps if you repeat the pronunciation out loud.
Activities

Match the lists

We parked the car carefully, however we were very happy
I want to learn a new language then we got out
When I was a child my family was poor, because I want to travel
When I was younger, after that answer the questions

Writing
Put these words in the correct order.

Example: my / is / name / John - My name is John

1. Immediately / after / her / I / called
2. That / after / do / to / have / you / do / what / ?
3. Nothing / there / , / was / beginning / the / in
4. Dream / had / 1 / a / terrible / night / last
5. Home / go / to / have / I / first

4. What were the children doing when their parents told them that their Granddad had died?

   a) Sitting at the table
b) Clearing up after dinner
c) Being very serious
d) Arguing
2.4. Writing

It’s your turn!

Now, using the past simple, past continuous and connectors, tell your friends about the last time you had an argument with someone and what happened. Write at least 5 sentences. Your can start:

Two weeks ago, ...

You have just listened to two children talking about how strange their parents behaved at dinner. Imagine what happened next using the past simple and the past continuous. Try and make your story as descriptive as possible!

Try and use at least 2 examples of the past simple and 2 examples of the past continuous.

2.5. Pronunciation

Look at these common linking words and example phrases:

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>But (He’s my friend but he can be annoying!)</td>

<td>Kneel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To ask someone to marry you</td>
<td>Mix up</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To get on your knees</td>
<td>Divorce</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

3.1. Grammar

Used to

Look at the phrases from the reading text containing “used to”. “Used to” expresses habits, customs or states in the past. Remember that “used to” is only used in the past and not for present habits.

Look at the examples below.

• I used to think that my wedding day was going to be the most beautiful day of my life.
• We used to spend our Sunday mornings in bed, reading the papers.
• I used to call him at lunch time everyday just to tell him I loved him.
• We used to spend all of our time together

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Affirmative</th>
<th>Negative</th>
<th>Interrogative</th>
<th>Short Answer</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| I used to imagine my wedding day | I didn’t use to imagine my wedding day | Did you use to imagine your wedding day? | Yes, I did
|                              |                       |                                | No, I didn’t          |
| He/she/it used to make her coffee | He/she/it didn’t use to make her coffee | Did he/she/it use to make her coffee | Yes, he/she/it did
|                              |                       |                                | No, he/she/it didn’t  |
| We/you/they used to spend all our time together | We/you/they didn’t use to spend all our time together | Did we/you/they use to spend all our time together? | Yes, we/you/they did
|                              |                       |                                | No, we/you/they didn’t|

Be careful not to confuse “used to” (past habits) with “to be used to” (which can be translated as “estar acostumbrado” in Spanish).
Activities

Writing

Put these words in order to make a correct sentence: Example: my/is/name/John - my name is John

1. Professionally / I / tennis / used / play / to
2. Lunch / she / time / used / at / day / every / call / to / me
3. Used / they / Greece / going / love / to / to
4. Her / to / her / husband / breakfast / make / used / to
5. Imagine / she / wedding / perfect / her / to / used
6. I / as / child. / to / a / use / broccolis / didn't / like

Writing

Now change your answers in the previous activities to make questions: Example: my name is John - Is my name John?

Writing

Write down 3 things that you used to do in the past but don’t do now and 3 things that you didn’t use to do in the past but you do now. Use your dictionary to look up any words that you might need.

Writing

Make questions from the information in the last exercise.

3.2. Learning new words

Look at these linkers and discourse markers. Listen and repeat the pronunciation:

Writing

Change these sentences from the past simple, past continuous and used to affirmative to the past simple and past continuous negative.

1. Dave liked his new motorbike
2. Helen was reading a book at home
3. Graham used to live here
4. Fergus was enjoying a lovely pint of beer
5. Andy used to play lots of golf

Writing

Change these sentences from the past simple and past continuous affirmative to the past simple and past continuous interrogative.

Writing

Put into negative form these sentences:

1. I used to go swimming when I was a teenager.
2. My grandparents used to ride a horse.
3. Peter and Sue used to travel abroad before they lost their jobs.
4. I used to eat lots of candies when I was a child.
5. You used to do more exercise when you were younger.
Writing

Re-write those phrases again but this time using the interrogative form of “used to”.

1. I used to go swimming when I was a teenager.
2. My grandparents used to ride a horse.
3. Peter and Sue used to travel abroad before they lost their jobs.
4. I used to eat lots of candies when I was a child.
5. You used to do more exercise when you were younger.

5. SUMMARY

In this unit we have looked at the PAST SIMPLE and the PAST CONTINUOUS as well as at the use of USED TO.

We have also looked at linkers and other vocabulary.

You should now be able to do the two tasks for this unit:

1. Write about your childhood: what you used to be like and what things you used to do.
2. Write an appropriate ending to this story (around 150 words):

“It was a cold night in November and it was raining. It was six o’clock and people were going home from work. There was a lot of traffic. Diana was in a hurry, but she wasn’t going home. She was driving to her friend Daniel’s house to have dinner...”

SCRIPTS

Bedtime worries!

Brother: Did you think mum was being a bit strange at dinner tonight?
Sister: Yeah! I did! She wasn’t her usual bubbly self. She looked quite nervous and she wasn’t talking very much at all.

Brother: It was like she wanted to tell us something and she didn’t know how.
Sister: Well! She did try to tell us something. Remember? And while she was beginning to say it half way through, dad, who normally doesn’t say a single word at dinner, interrupted her. And he looked a bit uneasy, too. Don’t you think?

Brother: hum? I think they were hiding something from us. But I can’t think of anything. What is certain is that they weren’t acting normally.

Sister: Do you think that maybe mum’s pregnant? That would be fantastic!

Brother: No! She can’t be. Mum lost a lot of weight last month and she was very thin even before that! I think they weren’t telling us something important and I’m sure it’s not good news!

Sister: Do you think that someone died? Mum looked like she was nearly crying!

Brother: I don’t think so. Remember when granddad died? We were clearing up after dinner and Mum and Dad were just sitting there very serious and then they told us?

Sister: I don’t know. Should we ask them?

Brother: I don’t think it would be a good idea. They didn’t tell us anything today but maybe they will tomorrow. They’ll tell us when they’re ready to tell us. And maybe it’s our imagination you know! Maybe nothing is happening.

Sister: But they were very stressed all last week and they were arguing yesterday. It must be something.

Brother: Hmmm? I don’t know. I hope everything is ok!
Nightmare wedding

I used to think that my wedding day was going to be the most beautiful day of my life. That was before it actually happened. My future husband to be Mark and I used to live together before we were married. We lived together for five years and after five years he proposed. We used to spend our Sunday mornings in bed, reading the papers.

He used to get up before me, make me some coffee and some toast and then join me back in bed where we used to stay until late in the afternoon reading next to each other. It was wonderful. We had all kinds of little things we used to do together. Most of our friends thought they were very corny but these little things really made us happy. I used to call him at lunch time everyday just to tell him I loved him. We used to spend all of our time together and I think we used to ignore the rest of the world a little bit. So when he proposed I was thrilled.

I remember, I was doing the dishes and he suddenly kneeled and asked if I would be his wife. I said yes, of course. Planning the wedding was a lot less stressful that I thought. So when D day arrived, I wasn’t stressed. But everything went wrong. We had a violinist booked to play throughout the day but he cancelled at the last minute so we had to ask my pregnant sister to play the piano for us. She was 9 months pregnant and had to be rushed out of the church to go to the hospital which meant that I had to get married without music and without my sister and my brother-in-law who was my husband’s best man. If that wasn’t bad enough, the flowers were never delivered.

The company in charge mixed up the date and apparently delivered all the lilies I had paid for the next day! My mum and my dad got stuck in traffic and arrived after I had said “I do”. And well, so many little things, like me staining my dress, Mark losing his vows and I can’t remember it all. Some people say that a bad wedding day makes for a great marriage but in my case it was the beginning of a downward spiral. Mark and I are now getting a divorce and we don’t do all these things that we used to before. Actually, thinking back now, we both think they were pretty stupid and that our friends were right.

A surprising funeral

Bruno: Hey John! You came! That’s brilliant. I’m so happy to see you. I wished it were in different circumstances but that’s life, no?

John: Bruno! I haven’t seen you in so long. How have you been? I know, I know. It’s sad but I mean he was 103. We knew it was going to happen soon. And he had such an incredible life! Dear old Uncle Billy, he was completely mad, wasn’t he?
Bruno: You have no idea. I came when I heard he wasn’t well and well you know? I decided to take some time off and spend his last days with him. I heard some incredible stories. Did you know that he used to give skiing lesson in Chile? In Chile? I didn’t even know he ever had gone to South America. He backpacked his way there in his forties apparently and spent about 5 years there. He didn’t realize that he would take him that long to save the money to come back. Ah Ah! We were babies then; this is probably why we didn’t know.

John: Well, I remember that he used to tell me the most incredible bedtime stories when I was a kid. I think he was making them up. But they were the best time stories I had ever heard. You know I try doing the same with my kids but I don’t think I have his talent.

Bruno: He used to take me fishing to tell me incredible stories. I always wondered if they were true. Like the one when he went to France and made wine. He kept saying that they named a grape after him. I think that one is not true but I could completely see him making wine in France.

John: Did he even speak French?

Bruno: No, but back then he used to be able to speak a bit of German that he had learned at school. And there was a German girl on the farm that translated for him. And you do know who that German girl was, don’t you?

John: No!

Bruno: Aunt Hilda! That’s how he met his wife apparently. But I don’t remember Aunt Hilda being German. Do you?

John: Well, I used to think that she had an accent but I always thought that she was French. Do you think we will ever know the truth about the life he really led?

Bruno: I don’t know. There are so many stories. And all of them are absolutely unbelievable. He even used to be invited to Buckingham Palace. He said that the Queen loved his company and that they used to have tea together!

John: No! That’s just crazy! That never happened!

Bruno: What is that cortege coming towards the church? Why are there royal guards on horses? No! No!

4. 30 days

2.1. Grammar

Should

Should can be used to express obligations and advice. It is used quite often when talking about requisites or desired attributes. The form is the same for the third person.

Affirmative form

The ideal candidate should be hard working.

“Can” and “be able to”

Can

Can is used to express ability, permission or possibility depending on the situation. In the context of a job interview it can be used to express abilities and what you are able to do.

Look at these examples:

I can work well in a team.
I can’t use a computer subject + can + main verb (always infinitive without “to”)

Remember that the pronunciation changes if it is stressed or unstressed as well as if it is used in the negative.

/kæn/ - stressed
/kən/ - unstressed

Could

Could can be used to express ability in the past in the same way in which can is used in the present.

Be able to

To be able to is also used to express ability although the structure is very slightly different from can.

I am able to work well independently
I am not able to drive subject + be + able + infinitive

Because can is possible only in the present (Could in the past) we use be able to when we want to use other tenses or the infinitive.

Look at these examples:

I have been able to drive since I was 17 (present perfect)
I will be able to speak perfect English very soon. (future simple)
I would like to be able to have the opportunity to work here. (infinitive)

<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Do business</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>Make a phonecall</td>

<td>Make a profit</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Make and do

When to use make and when to use do can often be confusing. There are some rules that you need to learn to know when to use each one but sometimes there are no rules and you just have to learn them!

When to use make:

Make is usually used to express an activity that creates something that you can touch. It often, but not always, expresses the idea of construction or creation.

Examples:

Make a cup of tea
Make a model
Make a cake

Expressions with make:

Sometimes make doesn't imply construction or creation. There are lots of expressions that use make that simply need to be learned:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>make arrangements</th>
<th>make money</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>make a choice</td>
<td>make a phone call</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>make a comment</td>
<td>make a plan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>make a decision</td>
<td>make a point</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>make an effort</td>
<td>make a profit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>make an enquiry</td>
<td>make a promise</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>make an excuse</td>
<td>make a remark</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>make friends</td>
<td>make a speech</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>make a journey</td>
<td>make a suggestion</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>make a mistake</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

When to use do:

Do is used for activities, actions and tasks. Generally, but not always, these actions produce no physical result. Do can be used to talk about work.

Do your work.
What do you do?
Do a project

Do is also used for general ideas or as a substitute for other verbs:

I am not doing anything at the moment
I have to do something
I do everything for you

Expressions with do:

Just like make there are certain expressions with do that must be learned:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>do badly</th>
<th>do well</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>do business</td>
<td>do your best</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>do good</td>
<td>do your worst</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>do harm</td>

5. SUMMARY
In this unit we looked at the world of work. We learned how to talk about the abilities and qualities need in different jobs and the grammer that we need to express them using can and be able to.

We also looked at expressions with make and do.

You should now be able to do the two tasks for this unit:

3. Describe different jobs and the abilities needed to do them
4. Write a CV for a job application

Job interview

Interviewer: Hello, come in and sit down. So, it’s Henry Beech, yes? First of all Henry, can you tell me where you heard about the job and why you want it?

Candidate (Henry): Well, I saw the advert for a store manager in the newspaper I thought that it looked ideal.

Interviewer: Do you have any experience as a store manager or have you ever done anything similar?

Henry: Well, as you can see on my CV I have had a few jobs working as a sales assistant in different department stores and so I know a little bit about what the job involves.

Interviewer: I see. And how would you describe yourself, Henry? What kind of a person are you?

Henry: Well, I think I am reliable, hard working and dedicated. I would also describe myself as proactive and I am able to make difficult decisions. I am able to relate well to all sorts of different people and also I can organise and manage projects and tasks. I also think that I have good problem solving skills.

Interviewer: Ok, that’s always good to hear. What other skills do you think that you have that would help you in this position?

Henry: I think that someone in this position should be outgoing and friendly and I am both of those things.

Interviewer: Ok, well I think that’s all I need to know for the moment. Do you have any questions that you would like to ask me?

Henry: No, I think that we have already talked about everything that I need to know.

Interviewer: Ok, great. Well, we’ll call you, ok? Thank you for coming.

CV

Katherine: My name is Katherine Greenhill but people call me Katie. I was born in 1978 in Bristol. I am British and I currently live in London.

I am a hard working, reliable and responsible person. I have had the chance to work in several different environments and am able to make decisions and can work well both independently or as part of a team. I enjoy learning new things and respond well to new challenges.

I think I have had a good education. I have a Masters degree in Human Resources and a Bachelors degree in Economics and Modern Languages.

I think that I have quite a lot of work experience. I have worked in many different places doing different things. During my time as a sports monitor and working in different shops I think I have developed good team working and organisational skills.

I have many interests and I can speak Spanish and I am very good with computers. I am able to use different operating systems without any problems at all.

They are not on my CV but if you need any references I would be happy to provide you with them.
Volunteering

Hannah: Hi Rob!

Rob: Oh, hi Hannah! How are you doing?

Hannah: Good, thanks. But I’ve been looking for a job and it’s really difficult.

Rob: Really? What kind of job are you looking for?

Hannah: Anything really. I think I’ll be happy to get any job! I’ve applied for everything from being a wait-ress to temping in an office!

Rob: I know what you mean. I’m looking for a job, too. Sometimes I think I will never get a job that actually pays! In fact, I’ve started doing voluntary work while I am waiting to find a job that has an actual salary.

Hannah: Really? I’ve been thinking about doing some voluntary work myself. I have a lot of free time and it would be nice to do something for other people.

Rob: You should! It’s actually a lot of fun and the feeling of giving something to society is great.

Hannah: I will definitely think about it. The problem is what happens if I find another job; I think I would feel really guilty, but on the other hand I need money. I have to pay my mortgage and although I’m sure it would be really good to do volunteer work to be honest I would love to be a sports journalist and if I volunteer to do that I’m not sure how many people I would actually be helping!

Rob: Well, yes, I think if you do something for free you should help society and not big companies. I vol-unteer in a food kitchen which provides food for homeless people. It’s hard work and obviously I don’t get paid but you meet lots of people who genuinely need help and I think that I will continue to help even after I find a paying job.

Hannah: I think that sounds really good. Maybe I will look into doing something like that. It would be great to make a difference in someone’s life.

Rob: Yes, but it isn’t easy. I get really tired making so much food!

Hannah: Yes I can imagine! Maybe I should concentrate on finding a job first and then think about doing volunteer work afterwards!

Rob: (laughs) Yes, sometimes I think the same!
1. INTRODUCTION

Travelling

In this unit we will look back at the present perfect which we first studied in module 3. In different exercises and examples we will look at how to use the present perfect together with already, yet and just. We will also take a quick look back at for and since.

As well as the present perfect we will also study vocabulary for travel and tourism and learn new words to describe geographical features

1. Use / understand present perfect
2. Use / understand present perfect with already, yet and just
3. Use / understand present perfect with for and since
4. Use and understand travel and tourism vocabulary
5. Use and understand vocabulary connected with geographical features

When you have finished this unit you will be able to:

1. Write about your ideal holiday.
2. List things that you haven't done yet but are sure you will do some day.

2. HAPPY TRAVELS!

Reading

You are going to read a letter written by someone during a trip to Barcelona. Have you ever been to Barcelona? What kind of things can you see there?

Read the text and then answer the questions below.
Dear John and Susan,

We hope you are well! We are really enjoying it here in Barcelona and wish you were here with us! We have already done so many things and we have only been here for two days!

Thank you so much for your list of things to see. We have just visited Las Ramblas and the cathedral. We haven’t seen the statue of Columbus yet, although we will try and visit it tomorrow.

From your list we have already been to Güell Park, we have already taken photos of the “Sagrada Familia” cathedral and we have already travelled on the trams: they are really great!

We haven’t been to any of the museums yet or eaten any of the delicious food that you recommended but we will definitely do it and I’ll send you an e-mail and let you know what I think!

Anyway, Harry has just called me so I should go and see what he wants! Thank you so much for recommending Barcelona we are having a great time! I will e-mail you soon!

Love,

Jane (and Harry)

PS: Have you ever seen the human towers that they build? They aren’t on your list and if you haven’t already seen them you have to come back here one day. They are amazing!

---

Vocabulary

- Cathedral: catedral
- Statue: estatua
- Columbus: Colón
- Tram: tranvía
- Delicious: delicioso

Writing
Write the questions for these answers about the text.

1. Great
2. Two days
3. Amazing
4. To the museums

2.1. Grammar

Present perfect
The present perfect is used to talk about past experience at an unspecified time in the past (I have read Darwin) and unfinished actions (I have lived in Spain for 10 years, and I still live here).

It can also be used in combination with:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>already</th>
<th>to talk about things you have done sooner than expected</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I have already visited the Eiffel Tower.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>yet</th>
<th>to talk about things that you haven’t done but expect to do</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I haven’t eaten shepherd’s pie yet.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>just</th>
<th>to talk about things you have done very recently</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I have just been to the zoo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The present perfect can be used together with:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>for</th>
<th>to express periods of time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>We have been here for two days.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>since</th>
<th>to express when an event started</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>We have been here since last Monday.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Affirmative form

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Auxiliary verb</th>
<th>Main verb</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I</td>
<td>have</td>
<td>visited my friends.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>He / she / it</td>
<td>has</td>
<td>eaten some vegetable for dinner.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>We / you / they</td>
<td>have</td>
<td>seen the film.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Contractions: I have - I've, she has - she’s, he has - he’s, we have - we’ve etc

Negative form

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Auxiliary verb</th>
<th>Main verb</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I</td>
<td>haven’t</td>
<td>visited my friends.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>He / she / it</td>
<td>hasn’t</td>
<td>eaten any vegetable for dinner.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>We / you / they</td>
<td>haven’t</td>
<td>seen this film.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Interrogative form

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Auxiliary verb</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Main verb</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Have</td>
<td>I</td>
<td>visited my friend?</td>

<td>he / she / it</td>
<td>eaten any vegetable for dinner?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Have</td>
<td>we / you / they</td>
<td>seen this film?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Present perfect progressive

USE
We use the Present Perfect progressive to say how long actions or experiences have been going on up to now.

He has (he’s) been writing letters since breakfast time.

FORM
Present of the verb to have (has / has) + past participle of the verb to be (been) + gerund (-ing) form of the main verb.

I have (I’ve) been living in this town since I was born.
Past Simple vs Present Perfect

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Past Simple</th>
<th>Present Perfect</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>verb + -ed</td>
<td>have + past participle</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- Past Simple is used:
  1. For actions which happened at a stated time in the past.
  2. To express a past action or habit.
  3. For past actions which happened one after the other.

- Present Perfect is used:
  1. For actions which happened at an unstated time in the past.
  2. To express actions which have finished so recently that there's evidence in the present.
  3. For actions which started in the past and continue up to the present.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time expressions going with Past Simple:</th>
<th>Time expressions going with Present Perfect:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Yesterday, last week / month / year / Sunday, etc., ago, how long ago, then, when, in 1999, etc.</td>
<td>Just, ever, never, already, yet, for, since, how long, recently, this week / month / year, once, twice, several times, etc.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Activities

Write the correct form of the verb in brackets

1. (visit) - She [...] her parents for the weekend.

Writing

Use the present perfect to say what you have done this week.

Writing

Now, imagine that you have done the things from the previous activity extremely recently. Use the present perfect affirmative to write sentences about them but this time add the word “just”.

Writing

Now, imagine that you are planning to do those activities but you haven’t done them yet. Write 5 sentences using the present perfect negative talking about your plans.

2.2. Learning new words

Vocabulary

In the first reading section we read a letter from someone who was on holiday. Think for a minute about typical things that you can see in a city when you are on holiday. Now look at these words connected with travel and tourism.

Listen to the words and repeat the pronunciation. Try to learn them by heart.
Activities

True or false

1. This list contains things you can DO and things you can SEE in a city. Choose the things you can DO.

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Irregular verbs

As you have seen the present perfect is formed using the auxiliary verb “have” and the past participle. In regular verbs the past participle is the same as the base form of the verb + ed. However, there are also many irregular verbs which need to be learnt individually. Here you will find a list with the most commonly used irregular verbs on the Internet (Aularagon).

Activities

Writing

Put these words in order to make sentences:

1. have / seen / I / this / already / film
2. I / had / have / just / dinner
3. to / already / spoken / the / President / I / have

3.4. Writing
It's your turn!

1. Imagine you are on holiday with your partner. Write five sentences using the activities below. Say if you have or haven't done these activities. Use already or yet.

   1. Buy some souvenirs.
   2. Eat typical regional food
   3. Swim in the lake
   4. Climbed the mountain
   5. Meet some new friends
   6. See a traditional play

2. Now imagine you are asking someone what they have done. Form questions using the phrases above.
3.5. Pronunciation

In the pronunciation section in the first half of the unit we listened to contractions between the subject and the verb (I have - I've). In this section we will pay attention to contractions when using the negative (I have not - I haven’t).

Look at these sentences containing the present perfect. Read and listen to the pronunciation. Repeat the sentences out loud.

5. A place where Muslims worship

Writing
Now write 5 definitions for these words

1. Swamp
2. Plains
3. Ocean
4. Fountain
5. Old town

5. SUMMARY
In this unit we did some revision of the present perfect which we first studied in module 3. We looked at how to use the present perfect together with already, yet and just. We also took a quick look back at for and since, and compared the use of the past simple to the present perfect.

As well as the present perfect we studied vocabulary for travel and tourism and learned new words to describe geographical features.

You should now be able to do the two tasks for this unit:

1. Write about your ideal holiday.
2. List things that you haven’t done yet but are sure you will do some day.

SCRIPTS
The traveller
Host: I am very pleased to welcome famous travel writer Diana Wilkins back to the show. Thank you for coming Diana.
Diana: Thank you for having me.
Host: Now Diana, you must have one of the best jobs in the world. I hear you have just got back from a journey to Greenland? Tell us all about it Diana: That’s right. As you say I have just got back from a trip to Greenland although I am going back there tomorrow. As you know my job is to investigate places and then write about them. I have already seen about half on the country but there are lots of things that I haven’t done yet and I need to know a lot more about the place before I can really help people to understand the island.
Host: And tell us a bit about your job. You’re not a normal travel writer, are you?
Diana: (laughs) Not really, most travel writers I have met stay in a place for a short time, make sure they have visited the local landmarks and famous places and then leave. I make sure I have visited all the places the other travel writers have written about and then I try to visit new places, speak to local people and try to understand the history and culture of every place I visit.
Host: And you have worked as a travel writer for over 20 years. You must have visited a lot of places.
Diana: I have a big long list of places that I would like to go and I have already been to a lot of them. However, I haven’t been to them all yet, and I don’t think I ever will. My list has got a lot longer since I started in my job.

Host: And is there any one place that you haven’t been yet that you are planning to visit soon?

Diana: Surprisingly I have never been to Scotland! I have always been so focused on visiting exotic destinations that haven’t managed to visit what I am told is one of the most beautiful countries in the world yet. However, this is a mistake that I will correct next summer.

Host: Anywhere in Scotland in particular?

Diana: I will try and visit as much of it as I can but I will definitely try and visit the islands as well as the highlands, the lakes, mountains, and I have heard that they have some of the most beautiful bays and beaches in the world. In fact, I have just finished reading about some amazing places but I will tell you about those the next time I see you and after I have already visited them for myself.

Holiday nightmare!

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to complain about the treatment that me and my family have received at your hotel, and because I have just been told that we will receive no refund despite the bad treatment and service.

We have only been here since last Monday but the list of things that have gone wrong is almost endless.

Firstly I haven’t seen any sign of our “special welcome gifts” yet, nor have we received our free t-shirts or towels yet.

On top of this, we have already had to pay extra for things that we thought were included in the original price, such as evening meals and excursions to the mountains.

Also, although we haven’t even switched on the television yet, your staff have already tried to make us pay extra to watch films we don’t want!

In addition to this, despite your brochure advertising “excellent” service, the hotel staff have consistently failed to wash our clothes properly and haven’t offered to give us a new room despite the fact that we have caught cockroaches in our bathroom.

And talking about the staff, they have been rude and unfriendly and haven’t been helpful at all. The weather has been awful as well, and although I understand that this is not your fault no one has organised alternative activities and we can’t even go swimming in the rain because the staff have closed the swimming pool already because of the bad weather.

To add insult to injury we have also just found out that there won’t be any hot water in our room over the next two days because a pipe has burst and can’t be replaced for 48 hours!

I am writing to demand an explanation, apology and a refund.

Yours sincerely,

Helen Bradley
On holiday

George: Hi Linda! I haven’t seen you in the hotel for the last couple of days. Have you been away?

Linda: Hi George! Yes, we have just got back from a visit to the mountains. Because we have already come here on holiday several times, we have already been to the beach and the lakes so we wanted to do something a bit different.

George: That sounds fun. My wife and I have also thought about going on an excursion. Some other people at the hotel have just told us about a famous cave near here. They said it has cave paintings. They haven’t been yet but they have read about it in their guidebook and they said it sounds really interesting.

Linda: Wow! I think I have heard about that place. Maybe we could come with you if you go.

George: OK, I’m sure my wife would love some company. She has been complaining that there is nobody to talk to here.

Linda: (laughs) Ok, well I’ll talk to my husband when he gets back. He has just gone out for a walk but he will be back soon.

George: Great! And what about the waterfalls. Have you been up there yet? I have also heard that it is worth visiting. There are some ancient ruins nearby and some spectacular views of the valley from the top.

Linda: Yes, I know! We have already planned a trip to go up there. We can go together next week if you want.

George: That sounds great. Anyway, I have to go but we’ll talk this afternoon, ok?

Linda: Ok, perfect! See you this afternoon. Bye!

George: Bye!
1. INTRODUCTION

In this unit you will learn how to use the passive voice in the simple present, simple past and present perfect tenses. You will also learn about past and present discoveries as well as about things that change in our lives. We will also study vocabulary related to crime.

1. Use / understand present simple passive structures
2. Use / understand past simple passive structures
3. Use / understand present perfect simple structures
4. Talk about past and present discoveries
5. Talk about things that change in our lives

When you have finished this unit you will be able to:

1. List important inventions giving reasons for your choices
2. List important changes in recent history

2. CHANGES

The text you are about to read has been taken from a newspaper article talking about a crime. What kind of information is normally contained in a newspaper article of this type what kind of crime do you think you are going to read about?

Now read the text and answer the questions below.
Devastated lives

Housewife Harriet Jones, 35, from Barking Road, Essex, was found in a pool of blood outside her home last night. Neighbours alerted the emergency services and she is now recovering in Kings College Hospital.

Police superintendent Antony Blake, who is investigating the case, said two people were taken in for questioning in the early hours of this morning: Steven Jones, the victim’s husband, and their son Jack. Jack has since been released but his father has been charged with attempted murder and remains in custody.

Mrs Jones was brutally stabbed 17 times in the chest, and was left there to die. Her son Jack told us “I had just come home from work and outside my house there were police, an ambulance and my father, I saw the blood on the floor and I didn’t know what was happening. The next thing I knew, my father and I were handcuffed and taken for questioning. I’ve never been so scared in my life. I’m devastated! My mother’s and my life will never be the same again”. Jack was released when the knife used in the attack was found by a member of the public and handed to police. Forensics discovered Steven Jones’ fingerprints on the knife.

Mrs Jones neighbour, Patty Wright said “she is such a lovely lady, I’m shocked by the whole affair. I never did like him that much. I hope he is sentenced to life imprisonment”.

Doctor’s at Kings college have told us that Mrs Jones is now out of intensive care and that she should make a full recovery. Her son Jack is by her bedside.

Mr Jones will appear in court tomorrow, and if he is found guilty, he will be sentenced by a judge next week.

Writing
Read the text again and answer these questions.

1. What happened to Harriet Jones?
2. What did Antony Blake say?
3. How did Jack feel after he saw his mother?
4. Why was Jack released from custody?
5. What did the neighbour Patty Wright say about Steven Jones?

Match the lists
Match the words with their correct definitions.

<table>

2.1. Grammar

The passive voice

FORM
The passive voice in English is composed of two elements: the correct form of the verb ‘to be’ + the past participle of the verb in question. (Regular verbs: infinitive + -ed / irregular verbs: 3rd column).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>+Subject</th>
<th>Verb ‘to be’</th>
<th>Past participle</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The house</td>
<td>was</td>
<td>built</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>These cars</td>
<td>are</td>
<td>made</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The house</td>
<td>is</td>
<td>cleaned</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
We can use the passive in any tense. To make different tenses we change the verb to be.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Tense</th>
<th>Example</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Past</td>
<td>My bike was stolen.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Present</td>
<td>The information is sent to our office.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Present perfect</td>
<td>Three people have been robbed.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

FUNCTION

A) The passive voice is very common in English. We use it when we are more interested in the action than in who or what did it.

- The passive is used ... (We are interested in the passive, not who uses it.)
- The house was built in 1654. (We are interested in the house, not the builder.)
- The road has been repaired. (We are interested in the road, not the people repairing it.)

B) We also use the passive when the person who does the action is unknown, unimportant or obvious from the context.

- The president was shot. (We don’t know who shot him.)
- He was arrested. (Obviously by the police.)

C) If we want to say who or what performs the action, we use the preposition by.

- “Let it Be” was written by the Beatles.
- “Jurassic Park” was directed by Spielberg.

Present Simple Passive

We form the present simple passive with the present simple of the verb ‘to be’ + the past participle of the verb.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>‘to be’ (present)</th>
<th>Past participle</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>English</td>
<td>is</td>
<td>spoken</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Computers</td>
<td>are</td>
<td>sold</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

To make the negative form of the passive we add not (n’t) to the verb ‘to be’.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>‘to be’ + not</th>
<th>Past participle</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Films</td>
<td>aren’t</td>
<td>made</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The computer game</td>
<td>isn’t</td>
<td>created</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

To make questions in the passive, we need the verb ‘to be’, then the subject, then the past participle.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>‘To be’ (present)</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Past participle</th>
<th>Question</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Are</td>
<td>films</td>
<td>made</td>
<td>in this country?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Is</td>
<td>English</td>
<td>spoken</td>
<td>here?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table> Past Simple Passive

We form the past simple passive with the past simple of the verb ‘to be’ + the past participle of the verb.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>‘to be’ (present)</th>
<th>Past participle</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>

Writing

Read the text again and answer these questions.

1. Why did the woman want to change her lifestyle?
2. How would you describe the neighbourhood where the woman lived in London?
3. Why did the woman describe herself as free?
4. How was her street different from the rest of the neighbourhood in her part of London?
5. How has the woman’s life changed in the last 9 months
2.4. Writing

It’s your turn!

1. You have just listened to a woman who changed her life completely and decided to go and live on an island. Now you are going to write about what has happened in your life in the past year. How has your life changed in the past 12 months? Write about these things:
   • Your work / study
   • Your hobbies and free time activities
   • Achievements
   • Changes in your family / relationships
   • Your holidays
   • Your life at the moment

   Write at least five sentences.

   Example: I have been promoted in my job.

2. Write five sentences about what’s grown, produced or made in your country and where.

   Example: Balay white goods are made in Zaragoza.
2.5. Pronunciation

Look at these different sentences containing the present simple passive and the past simple passive. Listen and repeat the pronunciation. Learn the phrases (and pronunciation) by heart.

8. What does the author say has been found in Spain?
9. How did the discovery change scientists' ideas about the arrival of humans to Europe?
10. What does the author say about discoveries in Space?

3.1. Grammar

1  He has been handcuffed.
2  She has been assaulted.
3  He has been arrested.
4  Someone has been murdered.

Present Perfect Passive

We form the present perfect passive with the present perfect of the verb ‘to be’ (has / have been) + a past participle.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>‘to be’ (present perfect)</th>
<th>Past participle</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>My key</td>
<td>has been</td>
<td>stolen.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>This shirt</td>
<td>has been</td>
<td>ironed.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

To make the negative form of the present perfect passive we add not (n’t) to the auxiliar (has / have).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>hasn’t / haven’t been</th>
<th>Past participle</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The trees</td>
<td>haven’t been</td>
<td>cut down</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>This shirt</td>
<td>hasn’t been</td>
<td>washed.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
To make questions in the present perfect passive, we need the auxiliar has / have + the subject + been + the past participle.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Has / have</th>
<th>subject</th>
<th>been</th>
<th>past participle</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Has</td>
<td>this shirt</td>
<td>been</td>
<td>washed?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Have</td>
<td>they</td>
<td>been</td>
<td>invited?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Remember
1. The passive voice is very common in English. We use it when we are more interested in the action than in who or what did it.
2. We also use the passive when the person who does the action is unknown, unimportant or obvious from the context.
3. If we want to say who or what performs the action, we use the preposition by.

In this unit you have studied the passive voice in the present and past simple tenses and the passive in the present perfect simple as well.

We have looked at vocabulary about changes, discoveries, inventions and crime

You should now be able to do the two tasks for this unit

1. List important inventions giving reasons for your choices
2. List important changes in recent history

SCRIPTS

Location, location, location

Woman: When I lived in London, I used to watch quite a bit of telly. After a big day at work, I was so tired, I had absolutely no energy and I would just get home, switch on the telly, order some takeaway and spend the entire evening on my couch.

I remember one day, there was a program called “Location, location, location”. It was all about finding the perfect flat but they put a lot of emphasis on where that flat should be. They kept repeating that it was all about finding the right location. You know, the right borough, the right street, the right neighbourhood. And it was implied that my borough was the worst one in the whole of London. I was really offended but... well... I kind of knew they were right. And it really got me thinking. It was true that my borough was being invaded by drug dealers and junkies but on my street we didn’t really suffer from it. The next morning I had an idea. What if I just moved away? I wasn’t especially happy in my job. I was single. I had no children. I was free, really. If it was all about the perfect location, I thought I should find the perfect location for me, even if it meant moving to another country. So I put a plan together. I sold my flat. I sold my car. I quit my job and I took off. I mean, look at me now! Nine months ago, I had a very busy life, almost no time to rest and to enjoy... well, you know...just being alive. Now, I live on an island, I spend most of my time on the beach. I have actually lost weight and... I don’t know if I should say that, it’s early days but...well... I have met someone...

Discoveries

Recently I was talking with some friends of mine about exploration and I was rather surprised with some of their responses. My friend Alex said, “we have nowhere left to explore because we know every part of our planet”. Obviously, I had to disagree. I told him there have been a number of new discoveries in the last few years and even as recently as last week.

I proceeded to inform my dear good friend that almost every day we discover new species in our seas and oceans. For example a new sea worm has been discovered by scientists. It has been named Bombiviridis and it was found off the western U.S. and Mexican coast. This worm actually fires bombs, so you can see where it gets its name. It does this to defend itself from predators and it gives the worm a chance to escape. The “bombs” are green, balloon shaped and they glow! Amazing.

Not only in the sea are we making discoveries, but also on the land. Ancient hominin bones have been found in the Atapuerca Mountains in the northern region of Spain. The digging at the Sima del Elefante (Elephant Cave) has uncovered a part of the lower-jaw bone that belonged to Homo erectus, the first human species to migrate to Europe. So this discovery has pushed back the arrival for mankind in Europe to about 1.2 million years ago, 500,000 years earlier than we thought.

And let’s not forget about space. We have always thought that Saturn’s rings were more or less flat, but it has been photographed by the Cassini spacecraft and it has discovered a new moon embedded in Saturn’s outer ring called Daphnis. The flow of particles in the outer ring has been pushed up in a vertical column to about 1 mile in height by the moon. This is about 150 times more than the thickness of the rings. The rings are more or less 30 metres thick.

So we discover things all the time, every day in our own lives. There is always something new to discover.

At the Science Fair

Interviewer: Thank you Jill! Yes, I’m at Saint Barnaby Science Fair, where parents and grandparents alike are being dazzled by their children’s ingenuity. I thought I would ask some of them what invention that occurred in their lifetime has changed their lives for the better.

Dad 1: That’s a pretty good question. I remember that when I was a kid, which was not that long ago, I mean I’m only 30. Things weren’t done the same way they are now, you know! I mean, when you told someone to meet you somewhere, they would just show up. There was no way for anyone to cancel at the last minute. Nowadays, people just text you they’re sorry and that’s it. People were a lot more reliable back then. That little gadget that we carry with us at all times is just taking over our lives. Don’t get me wrong. They’re useful. I don’t know what I would do without mine but...

Interviewer: Thank you very much. What about you madam?

Mum 1: Well! I can’t really say that it has changed my life because I have never lived without one but I must say that the magic box, as I like to call it, is an essential part of my life. I just can’t live without one. I was fascinated by it when I was a little girl and I still am. I think I spend more time in front of it than my kids.

Interviewer: And you, sir?
Dad 2: Easy! The Magnavox Odyssey! I was given one in the summer of 1973 and it was the best summer of my life. I almost never left the house that summer apart from going to the shop. You see, it was powered by batteries but they didn't last very long so I had to keep going to the shop to buy more. I played for hours and now it’s my job, I design games.

Mum 2: I remember that console! I think it’s in the attic. I, on the other hand, don’t look back at the past. I look forward to the future. I mean, clearly when electricity was invented ... hum... discovered so when electricity was discovered it changed the way we lived our lives but what’s really exciting is what’s going to happen next? No?

Interview: Let’s ask the older generation, Sir?

Grand-dad: I’m not much into technology, young man! All these gadgets and buttons, it’s too complicated for me. I guess, something that really changed our lives is when I bought my wife a washer. Oh! How happy she was that day! She didn’t have to scrub off all the stains out of my shirts anymore. The machine did it for her.

1. INTRODUCTION

In this unit you will learn how to use the FIRST and the SECOND CONDITIONAL. We will also look at how to use the FUTURE SIMPLE as well as many other useful and interesting things.

1. Use / understand the first conditional structure
2. Use / understand the second conditional structure
3. Use / understand the future simple form
4. Talk about natural features and disasters
5. Talk about wishes

When you have finished this unit you will be able to:

1. Express a hypothesis and imagine unreal situations.
2. Write about your plans / arrangements/ intentions for the future.

2. CHANGES

You are going to read about the 2004 Tsunami, which devastated cities, towns and homes throughout the Indian Ocean. Do you remember seeing these events on the news? What do you think it was like for those living there?

Now read the text and answer the questions.
The 2004 Indian Ocean Tsunami

On December 26, 2004 a tsunami hit the Indian Ocean coastal communities. The consequences were unimaginable: with 174,500 casualties, 51,500 missing, and roughly 1.5 million people displaced. The toll of human casualties from the 2004 Indian Ocean Tsunami has no modern historical equivalence.

In Thailand, especially, the tsunami affected residents and foreign tourists in the densely inhabited Phuket Island and the surrounding southern coastal provinces. The lethality rate among the tourists – between 7% and 10% – was twice the rate of the local residents, as many of the tourists were on the beach or in beach-front hotels when the tsunami struck.

Very few, almost none, that were on Phuket beach that day survived. One survivor, who wishes to remain anonymous, speaks about how lucky she was to have survived. Reluctant at first, “If I think of it, I’ll remember it all and I’m not sure I want to do that”, she decided to open up to us: “It’s very difficult for me to speak about it still. I remember it all too clearly. It was late that day and jumped on a bus while it was leaving for Phuket beach. So I had to stand in the threshold. Everything happened really quickly. The bus stopped and for some reasons I decided to get off. Then I saw the wave and I knew I was going to die. I was petrified. Out of nowhere, a farmer grabbed me and threw me in the back of his pick-up. I hit my head, broke my front teeth and lost consciousness. I still have some flashbacks about being underwater and unable to breathe. But the only real memories I have that are clear are when I woke up on a hospital bed. I didn't know how I got there but I was alive. “If I ever find the man that saved my life, I won't know what to say but I will most probably hug him.”

Even though, it was a traumatising experience, she decided to return to Thailand and to help the ones still very much in need after having lost their family and their home. She is still volunteering there today. “If I didn’t do everything in my power to help them, I wouldn't be able to look at myself in a mirror I think” was her last comment.

4. She will hug him

2.1. Grammar

First conditional
We use the first conditional to talk about real situations in the present and their possible result in the future. The first conditional uses two separate clauses:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>A real situation</th>
<th>A likely result in the future</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>If + present simple</td>
<td>Future with “will”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If you give me the book,</td>
<td>I will be very happy.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If he eats all the cake,</td>
<td>he will be sick.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The first conditional can also be used with can or the imperative.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>If + present simple</th>
<th>“can” or imperative</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>If you open the door,</td>
<td>you can leave.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If you forget your book,</td>
<td>go back and get it.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Remember the two clauses can be used in any order.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Future with “will”</th>
<th>If + present simple</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I will be very happy,</td>
<td>if you give me the book.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>He will be sick,</td>
<td>if he eats all the cake.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Second conditional

We use the second conditional to talk about imaginary situations in the present and their imaginary results in the future. It has a similar structure to the first conditional.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>An imaginary situation in the present</th>
<th>An imaginary result in the future</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>If + past simple</td>
<td>Future with “would”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If you gave me the book,</td>
<td>I would be very happy.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If he ate all the cake,</td>
<td>he would be sick.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Remember that the second conditional express something unlikely in the future.

| If I won the lottery,                 | I would be rich.                  |

The two clauses can be used in any order.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Future with “would”</th>
<th>If + past simple</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I would very happy,</td>
<td>if you gave me the book.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>He would be sick,</td>
<td>if he ate all the cake.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

With the verb to be both was and were are possible. The use of were is more formal.

| If I were rich,                       | I would buy a new house. (more formal) |
| If I was rich,                        | I would buy a new house. (less formal) |

Activities

Choose the right option

Write the correct first conditional affirmative form from the verbs in brackets.

Example: (be) If you [...] good I will give you 5 euros - If you are good I will give you 5 euros

1. (go) - If I [...] to the swimming pool, she will come with me.
2. (answer) - If you call now, he [...].
3. (regret) - If they go there, they [...] it.
4. (clean) - If my mother [...] my room, she will find my diary.
5. (wash) - If Roberts [...] dad’s car, he will get 10 euros.
6. (have) - If we buy three magazines, [...] one each.

Fill in the gaps

Complete these sentences with the correct words:

- drink / buy / will / knew / cleans / don’t go / won’t be / would be

- If I [...] to school today, I will miss the Spanish exam.
- If she [...] her bedroom today, she won’t have to do it tomorrow.
- If they don’t receive the package tomorrow, they [...] very happy.
- If you were here, I [...] the happiest man alive.
- If we [...] milk now, we won’t have to go to the shop tomorrow morning.
- If I [...] more beer, I’ll get sick.
- You wouldn’t say that if you [...] the truth.
- If I go to see grandma on Sunday, [...] you come with me?
Writing

Write the correct negative form of these sentences:

Example: If you shout, I will become angry - If you don’t shout, I won’t become angry.

1. If I visit the Cathedral, I will take a leaflet.
2. If you come, you will need a plan.
3. If they were my friends, I would invite them.
4. If we leave now, we will be there in 2 hours.
5. If she keeps quiet, they will.

Writing

Use these words to write interrogative first conditional sentences:

Example: I/score/you/be happy - If I score, will you be happy?

1. I / cook lunch / you / wash up
2. I / call him / he / answer the phone
3. we / visit this weekend / they / be there
4. I / give you some help now / you / help me next week
5. I / pay for you / you / return the money tomorrow

Writing

Put these words in the correct order:

Example: my / is / name / John - My name is John

1. If / don’t / you / you / call / me / won’t / , / I / call.
2. she / knew / , / would / she / mad / be / if
3. come / If / they / , / upset / ? / be / you / will
4. If / I / you / it / me / watch / watch / that / with / movie / , / ? / will
5. If / mother / ill, / is / your / her / take / doctor / to / the

Writing

Write five sentences about what you would do if you won the lottery using the second conditional affirmative.

Writing

Now write five sentences about what you wouldn’t do if you won the lottery using the second conditional negative.

Writing

Finally, imagine you are talking to a friend about what they would do if they won the lottery. Write five questions using the second conditional interrogative.

3.1. Grammar
Future
To talk about the future, we can use two different forms:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Will</th>
<th>is used to make predictions, express future events and make instant decisions, offers and promises.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>predictions</td>
<td>In 10 years time, scientists will find a cure for cancer.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>future events</td>
<td>The moon will be full tomorrow.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>instant decisions</td>
<td>The doorbell is ringing. I will open the door.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>offers</td>
<td>I will give you a lift to your house.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>promises</td>
<td>I will buy you a motorbike next year.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>To be going to</th>
<th>is used to talk about future arrangements and predictions about future events that are based on present evidence.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>arrangements</td>
<td>We are going to have dinner out next Saturday.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>future events based on present evidence</td>
<td>It is very dark. It is going to rain.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Activities

Writing
Put these words in order to make a correct sentence:
Example: my / is / name / John - my name is John

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>In 50 years time we will travel to Mars.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>He is going to drink an orange juice.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>She won’t come.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>It is going to rain.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Writing
Make questions with the phrases in the previous activity:
Example: my name is John - Is my name John?

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>I / I / will / the / promise / truth / tell</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>She / again / will / him / never / to / speak</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>Time / this / exam / my / I / pass / will</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Party / I / think / he / that / the / to / come / will</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>Happy / they / not / going / to / are / be / very</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Writing
Write two things you think are going to happen in the future and two things you think will happen in the future:
Example: It is going to rain. (“going to”) Example: I will bake you a cake for your birthday. (“will”)

Writing
Make questions from the sentences in the last activity.
Example: Is it going to rain?
Example: Will I bake you a cake for your birthday?
3.2. Learning new words

Vocabulary
Look at these words connected to the environment. Listen and repeat the pronunciation. Learn the words by heart.

Writing
Re-write the sentences from the previous activity using “to be going to” and give present evidence that these things are or are not going to happen:
Example: We aren’t going to find life on other planets because it doesn’t exist

Writing
Change the sentences from the previous activity into questions and ask your partner about his opinion:
Example: Will we find life on other planets?

3.3. Listening

Vegetarian?
Listen to this series of interviews from a radio show. The presenter is talking to a guest about the future. Listen to the audio.
After you have listened for the first time, read the questions below. Then listen to the programme again and answer the questions.
Activities

True or false

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Statement</th>
<th>True</th>
<th>False</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The presenter thinks eating meat is bad for the health</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The young woman hasn’t eaten meat for 3 years</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The young woman doesn’t know what to cook because she doesn’t use meat</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The old man threatened to eat the presenter</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The mother of the child is a vegetarian</td>
<td></td>

   a) 1
   b) 3
   c) 2

2. How many people interviewed tried or are vegetarians?
   a) 1
   b) 3
   c) 2

3. Why did the mother stop being a vegetarian?
   a) For her daughter
   b) Because she had cravings when she was pregnant.
   c) Because her doctor told her to eat meat during her pregnancy.

4. Why did the young woman become a vegetarian?
   a) She read a book.
   b) She saw a film.
   c) Her boyfriend was a vegetarian.

5. Why is the old man never going to stop eating meat?
   a) Because he needs proteins
   b) Because it would be a stupid thing to do
   c) Because he is a farmer
3.4. Writing

It's your turn!

1. Make four affirmative predictions about the future.

   Example: If we continue to use vast amounts of oil, we are going to have none left.

2. Make four negative predictions about the future.

   Example: If we continue to use vast amounts of oil, we aren’t going to have any left.

3. Use the sentences you wrote in the previous activities to make questions.

   Example: Are we going to have any oil left if we continue to use vast amounts of it?

3.5. Pronunciation

As we saw in the grammar section we can use both “WILL” and “GOING TO” for predictions. “WILL” is used when you don’t know about the future and are guessing and “GOING TO” is used when you have present evidence that indicates what the future might be.

Look at these sentences containing the future simple and the “going to” future in the affirmative, negative and interrogative forms. Read and listen to the pronunciation. Repeat the sentences out loud.

Look at this example:
Did you notice how the intonation changes if the sentence is a question? Listen again and repeat the pronunciation.

1.

a) In 2050 we will all be vegetarians.
b) In 2050 we won’t all be vegetarians.
c) In 2050 will we all be vegetarians?

2.

a) In 2050 we will all be vegetarians.
b) In 2050 we won’t all be vegetarians.
c) In 2050 will we all be vegetarians?

3.

a) He is going to eat meat again.
b) He isn’t going to eat meat again.
c) Is he going to eat meat again?

4.

a) He is going to eat meat again.
b) He isn’t going to eat meat again.
c) Is he going to eat meat again?

Notice that the word will is often abbreviated to ‘ll and the words will not are often abbreviated to won’t. The same is true for “going to”. When we use “going to” we often abbreviate the verb “to be” before going to.
Look at the examples:

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>

going / Will / earthquakes / flood / climate / volcano / deforestation / extinction

The ancient world was a hazardous place to live in. Our history is filled with numerous stories of disasters that have affected the human race. First off, nearly all major cultural groups have a [...] disaster story, where mankind has been threatened with [...] because of vast amounts of water covering the land. History books are filled with tales of [...] destroying cities with their aftershocks and [...] eruptions burying whole towns under layers of ash and soot. However as time has passed we have made considerable advances in the fields of medicine and technology, supposedly making the world a safer place. But is the world really safer? As the human race has made advances there always seems to be a new danger to combat, whether it be [...] change caused by CO² emissions or [...] caused by the cutting down of too many trees. Maybe the question that we should be asking is “are our advances really helping us?” [...] we survive long into the future or are we [...] to destroy the world in the name of progress?

5. SUMMARY

In this unit we have looked at the FIRST and SECOND conditional as well as at the future with WILL and GOING TO.

We have also looked at vocabulary related to NATURAL DISASTERS and THE ENVIRONMENT.

You should now be able to do the two tasks for this unit

1. Express a hypothesis and imagine unreal situations.
2. Write about your plans / arrangements / intentions for the future.
Old man: Having lived in Colorado for... let me think... I think about 2 years then, I’d thought I’d seen it all weather wise, you know: boiling hot Christmases, snow in April and unexpected hail and scary thunderstorm. But I was not prepared for that Monday!

It was July. The 5th or the 6th, I’m not quite sure. I remember I was wearing my pair of jeans my son had given me the previous Christmas. I liked those jeans...Oh, well! Anyway, it was cloudy! In July? I thought to myself that it was a bit odd but as I’ve told you before, I got used to crazy weather in this part of the country. By noon, it started raining, by the middle of the afternoon, it was a bloody monsoon. As I told my wife Catherine: “We should have stayed in England. Why did we move to the States?” And what happened, happened you know! The water level started to rise and rise. Oh! You should have seen it! I guess I was kind of enjoying it because our neighbour, Mr. Olson, looked really upset! He was so proud of his garden and the poor garden had been turned into a swimming pool! How I laughed! I never liked him.

What was I saying? Oh, yes! But it wouldn’t stop raining and it just went from bad to worse! Cars were stuck in the middle of the road. People started panicking! Americans! I guess I really started to get worried when it reached my porch and I was livid when water started going inside the house. Catherine, bless her, she took food from the kitchen and a thermos of tea and told me to join her on the roof, so that’s what I did. I wasn’t going to disagree with my wife! And we ended up on the roof, drenched because it was still raining and had a little picnic under an umbrella. Looking back now, it was fun! I felt young again. You should have seen the state of the living room when it quieted down and we went back downstairs.

Home

Humanity has barely ten years left to save the planet. According to HOME, Yann Arthus-Bertand’s latest project, we need to take action today.

The movie which was released in over one hundred countries on June 5, 2009 - to coincide with the World Environmental Day - premiered at a free, open-air screening under the Eiffel Tower in Paris. It was also made available for free on the internet and in cinemas around the globe.

The message is clear: the Earth, the place we call home, is in trouble, and we are largely responsible.

Using his experience as a world renowned photographer, Yann Arthus-Bertrand shows us our planet in all its glory. Breathtaking aerial views of oceans, mountain ranges and animals roaming free in the wild are...
Juxtaposed against views of busy streets of capital cities, traffic jams and factory fumes. Taking us through a journey that started four billion years ago, the movie explains that in the last 50 years alone, the Earth has been more radically changed than by all previous generations of humanity.

According to the movie, there is no time for procrastination. Yann Arthus-Bertrand highlights a few initiatives that might still save us from self-destruction, such as Costa Rica’s redirection of funds away from a military force and into education, eco-tourism and the protection of primary resources, or Denmark’s investment in renewable energy sources.

Here is what the artist had to say:

“We are living in exceptional times. Scientists tell us that we have 10 years to change the way we live, avert the depletion of natural resources and the catastrophic evolution of the Earth’s climate. The stakes are high for us and our children. Everyone should take part in the effort, and HOME has been conceived to send a message of mobilization out to every human being.”

Vegetarian?

Interviewer: Here in the food court of a mall, I have asked random shoppers if they would ever give up eating meat.

A young man: Me? Never! Are you completely insane, man! And what: never go to my favourite fast food restaurant ever again? I don’t think so. What’s wrong with meat anyway? Meat is goooood!!! I’m never going to stop eating meat, man!

A young woman: Well! I already have! I haven’t eaten any meat, fish or poultry in the last 3 years already. I have to say that at first it was quite difficult. I mean I loved my chicken burgers but I saw a movie one day with my boyfriend and it was really shocking you know! First the way they treat animals and the impact farming has on the planet is ... you know... it’s unbelievable! So we stopped, you know cold turkey! From one day to the next! We went home that evening and threw away any meat we had and it started from there. At first we were a bit lost; we didn’t know what to eat! I mean you just forget about all the amazing vegetables and nuts out there! Now, my boyfriend and I are considering converting to veganism. We are actually going to a vegan cooking course that starts next week.

Older man: young man! I’m a farmer! What do you think? Do you think I can live on salad? No! I need my proteins! What a silly question! I will eat YOU if you don’t get out of my way though.

A mother holding a crying little girl: I was a vegetarian for a really long time but when I was pregnant, I had terrible urges for meat! I dreamt about meat, I could smell a burger a mile away and it drove me crazy. So I decided that for the good of my unborn child, I should eat meat during my pregnancy. My little girl is 4 now and well...I’m not proud of myself but I haven’t gone back to vegetarianism but I’m hoping that I will soon.

The little girl: Mum? Mum!! Can we go and have a cheese burger with fries! Pleeeeeease!!!

The mother: yes, Darling! I will buy you one now! Alright, better go then!
